This mission directive prescribes the mission and establishes the responsibilities for Air Force Reserve Command (AFRC) operations squadrons, and applies to C-141B/C, C-5A/B, C-17/A, KC-135E/R, KC-10A, C-130E/H/J, HC-130N/P, MC-130E/P, WC-130H/J, F-16/C/D, O/A-10, O/A-10A, B-52H, C-9A, E-3A, and HH-60G operations squadrons.

SUMMARY OF REVISIONS

This revision updates terminology (paragraph 1.1.), redefines the relationship to other units (paragraph 2.), and revises Units and Locations (Attachment 1). A bar (|) indicates revisions from previous edition.

1. Mission:

- 1.1. Peacetime. The foremost mission of operations squadrons is to achieve the operational capability to deploy, employ, and redeploy to accomplish assigned missions in support of the wings' objectives.
- 1.2. Wartime/Emergencies. Governed by gaining command directives.

2. Command. Operations squadrons are assigned to AFRC operations groups. The peacetime structure of AFRC operations squadrons maintains effective operations with the least expenditure of resources and minimizes organizational turbulence upon wartime mobilization. These squadrons functionally align for structural compatibility with their active duty counterparts.

3. Assigned Forces. While in peacetime status and during annual training, operations squadrons are under the direct control and supervision of the operations group to which assigned. Under Presidential call-up pursuant to Title 10 U.S.C. 12304, administrative jurisdiction remains unchanged. Operational control transfers to the commander of the gaining command. Under full mobilization authority, command jurisdiction transfers to the commander of the unit to which assigned by the gaining command.

4. Relationship to Other Units. Established command channels apply. Communicate directly with the active duty advisors on matters relating to training, inspection, and safety. Send a copy of such correspondence to the respective unit to which assigned.

JAMES E. SHERRARD III, Lt General, USAF
Commander
